

HISTORIC PRESERVATION MINOR

Overview

Students in the undergraduate Minor in Historic Preservation master fundamentals of historic preservation practice through courses in theory and practice, architectural conservation, and architectural history. Historic Preservation students meet experts in the field and often work with organizations engaged in historic preservation projects and advocacy. Courses require fieldwork that may include regional site visits.

Requirements

| Course ID | Title | Credits |
|---------------------------|---|-----------|
| PRES 2100 | Intro to Historic Preservation ¹ | 3 |
| PRES 2220 | Conservation Technology | 3 |
| PRES 2120 | History of American Architecture I | 3 |
| PRES 4105 | Architecture, Heritage, and Culture | 3 |
| PRES 4110 | Heritage Documentation | 3 |
| PRES 4120 | History of American Architecture II | 3 |
| Total Credit Hours | | 18 |

¹ PRES 2100 must be completed before any other PRES courses can be taken.

Students attaining grades above a 3.0 in two or more PRES courses may receive advanced standing in the graduate-level Master of Science in Historic Preservation program upon separate application and acceptance to the Masters program. Interested students should contact the director of the Historic Preservation program for more information.