

STUDIO ART MINOR

A minor in Studio Art allows for the pursuit of artistic making and thinking in a way that compliments and informs the student's primary fields of study, consisting of five courses in total. Students choose two courses from the following four options: any 1000-level course in a 2D area (digital art, drawing, painting, photography, printmaking), any 1000-level course in a 3D area (ceramics, digital fabrication, glass, sculpture), ARST 1050 Drawing I (4 c.h.), and ARST 2101 Sequence and Series (4 c.h.). The other two studio courses can be any ARST course above the 1000-level. One Art History course is also required; students can choose from any of the Art Department's diverse offerings in the history and study of art.

Note: No more than half of the required courses can be transferred into the program.
